JWFALL SAID BE THE FAULT F THE PUEBLOS

Indians Have Big Dance.
Outdoor Reporter Bit-y Opines They Brought the Weather.

When Miss Hilda Graham was first exploited on Broadway, during the run of the "Chocolate Soldier," which she created the role of "Nadine" and later when she appeared in other musical successes of the popular stage, pretty much everybody agreed at the conclusion that she was indeed some day to be a musical star, but not destined for importance in any other business of the stage, and, like some others in this profession of uncertain outcome, Miss Graham—to employ a colloquial term—"had fooled them"—for now she is one of the principal players in the high-play "A Pair of Sixes" which H. H. Frazer will present at the Crystal Theater tonight.

STAR OF "PAIR OF SIXES" ACHIEVES AN UNEXPECTED TRIUMPH

Miss Graham has been playing the role of Sally Parker since the farce was first produced at the Longacre theater, New York.

In this work, she has the role of the pretty girl who knows how to dance. When she starts on the music, a great sign of relief and surprise is seen upward to the balcony and gallery, with pure enjoyment of the play, which has been a tremendous success. Everyone in the audience immediately assumes that she must have been a dancer before she became an actress. The truth is, she had never struck a key note, she began rehearsals for her part in the play.

PROPRIETORS TOMORROW HEARING OF POOL ROOM

Valent brothers, proprietors of a pool room on Central avenue, will appear in the city court tomorrow in answer to a charge of allowing minors to play in their place. They are represented by Attorney H. C. Miller.

WIND AND HAT BLAMED FOR AUTOMOBILE DIVE

J. E. Gilpin, of Rancho de Atreco, drove his car over the wall of the east approach of the Barcelona bridge yesterday afternoon, and suffered a number of minor injuries. The explanation of the accident is that the wind blew Gilpin's hat down into his eyes and blinded him so he could not see to guide the car. Gilpin went off the bridge on what was for him the wrong side of the road. He was heading west through the air and landed upside down in the river. Gilpin has skinned his head and suffered a number of cuts. He was attended to at St. Joseph's hospital.

TRUESDALE FORFEITS THIRTY-DOLLAR BOND

J. W. Truesdale, a fruit agent, forfeited a $30 bond in the city court today. He was arrested Friday night on a charge of disturbing the peace after the landlady of a rooming house telephoned that he used abusive language toward her.

Friday afternoon a charge of disturbing the peace under false pretenses followed against Truesdale by a California orange shipper was dismissed by Judge Craig in the twenty-sixth precinct court. F. A. Sargent, the shipper who filed the complaint, requested the dismissal. The charge is said to have grown out of a deal for two boxes of oranges.

Alfred Grossfeld, chairman of the county commission, has come to Chicago and New York to spend the holidays with his family, who have been east for several weeks. He will return early next week.

EL PASO TEEMS WITH BUSINESS SAYS BALDRIDGE

Young Man Who Recently Joined J. P. Sheehan in Enterprise in Pass City Secs
Big Future for Border Port.

Kenneth Baldridge, who with J. P. Sheehan recently engaged in business in El Paso, is delighted with the business prospects of the Pass City. Mr. Baldridge is in town on a visit.

He said today that commercially and every other way El Paso is expanding and developing in a manner little if anything short of astonishing. Regardless of police prospects in Mexico, Mr. Baldridge said, the Pass City was growing and enlarging and increasing its business and wealth in a manner when a real peace is established in Mexico, it says that time, peace, and commercial and industrial conditions are restored south of the border, El Paso will become one of the really important cities of the country. Its strategic situation as the one logical inland port on the southern border of the nation, with its access to all railroad connections, insures that.

Mr. Baldridge is in the light of business machine. He says that the southern city means with activity in his and allied lines. There is a lot of new construction under way, and not a day passes but more new work is started.

PAYS FOR PANE, GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

James Burke, a one-legged man, received a suspended sentence of thirty days in the city court this morning. Burke got drunk Friday night, according to accounts, and leaned against a show window at Mr. Chase Bros. drug store on South second street. The window broke under the pressure. Burke regarded the accident as a providential occurrence and took pains to advantage of it by filling his pockets full of nuts.

When the case was called this morning Burke had agreed to reimburse the storekeepers for the window. For that reason and because it was established that there was no conscious wrongdoing in his actions, sentence was suspended.

WHERE OUR YALENIANS ARE SPENDING YULETIDE

Fred Lathy has come home from Yale university to spend the holidays. The rest of the "Yalemen colony" at New Haven has scattered. Kurt Bryan, instructor in geology, has come in Washington for the holidays; little Elmer Cornish, coach of the freshmen eleven, has gone to Buffalo, N. Y.; and Chester Lee, forestry student, is holidaymaking in Bedford, Va.

The 21 players in the Brown university football squad, who stopped here Christmas day on their way to the coast, left early yesterday. They practiced briefly Saturday afternoon and went to a dance at the Country club in the evening. With the players were Dr. F. W. Marcel, supervisor of athletics; Edward Robinson, head coach; Earl Runkling, assistant coach; and others. An American quarter-back, Charles Higgins, trainer, and P. A. Ballou, manager, who is a senior at Brown.

SECRETARY OF STATE SERIOUSLY ILL IN A HOTEL IN CHICAGO

Word has reached here of the serious illness of A. A. Lucero, secretary of state. Mr. Lucero now is in a hospital in Chicago, where he was joined yesterday by his daughter, Miss Anna Lucero.

Both the secretary and his daughter were on their way to Washington to act as official interpreters at the Pan-American scientific congress which convenes in Washington today, but Mr. Lucero was several days ahead of his daughter. As his train neared Kansas City he began to complain of illness and when he reached Chicago found himself unable to continue the journey. His daughter, who left Santa Fe Saturday, was notified of her father's illness and broke her trip at the Illinois metropolis to remain with him until he had improved sufficiently to travel.

PERSONALS.

Fred De Lorimer, of this city and more recently of Santa Fe, is spending the holidays in El Paso, the guest of H. H. Maddox. He will go to Mr. Maddox's ranch after New Year's to spend the winter.

The following received the electrical appliances given away Christmas by the light company: Vacuum cleaner, W. H. Lindemann, 204 North Fifth street; shaving dish, Mrs. Mary Collier, 102 North second street; percolator, H. A. Staples, 782 North Fifteenth street; six-pound Hot Point iron, Mrs. M. Goret, 512 South Walker street; electric toaster, Frank Scutello, 307 South Fourth street.

SCHOOLBOYS SEE OLD AND QUANT "LOS PASTORES"

Just as for Generations Back,
People of Tijeras Give Nativity Play, Varying Nothing One Jot or Tittle.

Carrying out almost immemorial custom, the people of Tijeras gave their quaint and ancient "Los Pastores" Friday afternoon and evening. "Los Pastores" is a very old play of the Nativity that the Tijeras have given each year on the eve of Christmas for uncounted generations. Every Christmas they hold "Los Pastores" just as their forefathers, and their forefathers before them, did. It never varies and long dead and forgotten fathers of the hamlet who might have returned Friday afternoon could have recognized it in every particular and could have offered ghostly understandings for every one of the characters.

The play was given Friday at the home of Canuto Sanchez. As in past years, people from all about the country came to attend "Los Pastores." It was in two parts, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

Men and women and girls of all ages took part in the play. A moulded figure represented the Infant Christ. The parts in "Los Pastores" include the three wise men, the shepherds, Joseph and Mary and the other characters of the Nativity.

Professor Kemp and a number of the high school boys witnessed "Los Pastores."
